Project Description

Citizen Forester Program

In 2011, the Citizen Forester program was created to supplement the rising needs of the organization's forestry efforts to address these very real issues. To date, 204 Citizen Foresters have provided 4,979 hours in sweat equity to oversee the planting of 13,388 trees which is vital to the long-term success of our work. An additional 65 youth ages 18 and under have participated as Citizen Forester Apprentices during that time as well. The Greening plants 4,000 – 6,000 trees annually with the assistance of volunteers who are managed by Citizen Foresters. In 2013, the Citizen Forester program helped oversee 3,437 volunteers who contributed 13,748 hours to plant 3,263 trees. The Citizen Forester program is instrumental in ensuring trees are planted correctly, so that our trees may provide benefits for decades to come.

Goal 1) Augment The Greening of Detroit's staff during tree plantings to oversee quality planting of 4,000 trees.

Goal 2) Enhance the leadership skills, community building skills and natural resources-based knowledge of those participating in the Citizen Forester program.

Live Love Local Celebration

The Greening of Detroit's Live Love Local Celebration is one of the organizations major fundraisers that will help to raise critical general operating support needed. It will be held at Detroit's Eastern Market Shed 3– known for drawing nearly fifty thousand market goers every Saturday who converge on the historic site for fresh fruits and vegetables grown right here at home. For one day only each summer, Live Love Local is in the newly renovated Shed 3 where patrons have the opportunity to taste the local food movement themselves. Patrons get to sample local food highlighted in original recipes from 25 of the area's hottest chefs while having their own “farm to fork” discussions with our farmers and learning chefs’ techniques firsthand. In 2014, event goers sampled fare from Chef Daniel of Michael Symon’s Roast and Dave Mancini of Supino Pizzeria, recently ranked in Zagat’s coveted Number 1 slot.
